

Clarification Regarding EOL Notification

Dear Valued Customer,

On 19/20 March 2026, you received a communication regarding an End-of-Life (EOL) notice for the following item: STM – STMicroelectronics (EUR S&D) „Notification of Detailed Schedule Information on Previously Issued PCNs“

We would like to inform you that this notification was communicated in error and is hereby formally retracted.

The message is standard Product Change Notification, not End-of-Life.

Please disregard the previous message indicating that the ST components are approaching end of life. The PCN describes a Wafer change from 200mm to 300mm. The EOL refers only to 200mm Wafer Production, once/if the PCN is rejected by a customer.

We also want to inform you that Avnet takes such incidents very seriously. An issue has been logged with our European Quality team, who have initiated a full audit and failure analysis. In addition, we are reviewing our internal processes for handling similar requests to ensure that such situations do not occur in the future.

Thank you for your understanding.

Best regards,
Avnet EMEA
